

Respite Care

A vital break for carers, while those they care for are safe and supported

Respite – a vital component of care

What is In-Home Respite?

In-Home Respite provides short term support so carers can have a break from their caring role, knowing that the person they care for is being well looked after.

Our trained and experienced care workers can look after the person needing care in their own home.

This service is individualised and flexible to meet the needs of the carer in addition to the needs of the person being cared for. We also offer emergency respite for when unforeseen events arise.

Our Respite Cottages

HammondCare At Home also offer respite in our purpose built Cottages. This enables carers, particularly of people living with dementia, the opportunity to take a break from their caring role. The clients love that these are not located in residential aged care homes. The Cottages provide guests with individualised support from our professional staff and are ideal for stays of up to 10 nights.

“ I was nearly at my wit’s end and would have had a breakdown if the pressure of such an intense caring role had continued without any respite. ”
